

CP Donor Privacy Policy

Donor Privacy

CP keeps all donor information private and does not share, sell or exchange donor information with any entity. Your confidence in the way we handle your personal information is extremely important to us. Only authorized CP staff handles donor transactions and is done so in the most confidential manner.

As the use of credit cards is becoming more popular for making donations, it is important for you to know that credit card information is not kept in our database for donor management.

Ethical Standards

Ethical principles and standards are of the utmost importance to our team at CP. Our organization adheres to the Association of Fundraising Professionals Code of Ethical Principles and Standards. The Director of Philanthropy signs an agreement to follow this code annually.

Donor Bill of Rights

We appreciate your donations with the utmost gratitude and respect. We recognize that there are many worthy causes in need of your support and are humbled by your choice to support CP. Please be assured that as a supporter of CP, we declare that you, the donor, have these rights, as outlined by the Association of Fundraising Professionals.
